

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

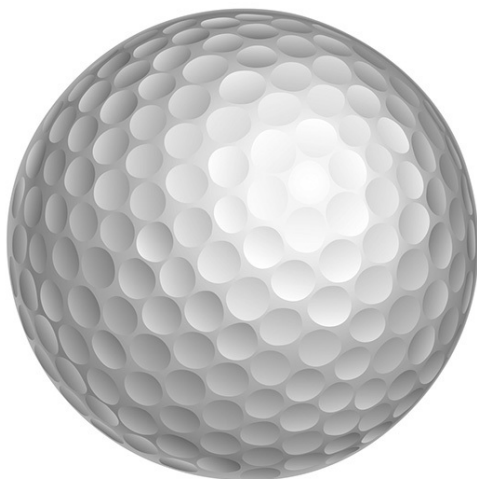

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Writing Spot: Would you rather play a game of golf or a run in the park?

Learning Outcome

Describe routines and regular activities in a wider range of social and work contexts.

Can Do Statements

- I can write about free time activities.
- I can write about what is preferable.
- I can write a short blog.

Ask your partner:

- Would you like to be a blogger? Why? Why not?
- How would you describe your writing skills? Excellent? Poor?
- Explain your answer.

Let's Explore!

Are you a writer in the making?

* "In the making" means you are training or working to be something.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

A blog is a "web log" that provides information or observations about a wide range of subjects. Blogs are personal diaries, whereas others record comments about topics. A lot of people write about travel or sports. Maybe you would rather document your visits to your favorite restaurants or what you prefer to do on the weekend.

Starting a Blog

1. Decide on a topic: What are you going to write about? You should choose an interesting topic that you are familiar with, or maybe you would rather write about new ideas and events. Do you have a variety of free-time activities you enjoy? Maybe you like to play golf or take day trips to the countryside.
2. Find a blog service and sign up: Before you begin, you might prefer to shop around rather than choose any service.
3. Design your blog: You can add pictures of your shopping trips, special restaurant dinners, or movies you have watched.
4. Write the first post: You may want to begin with a welcome post.

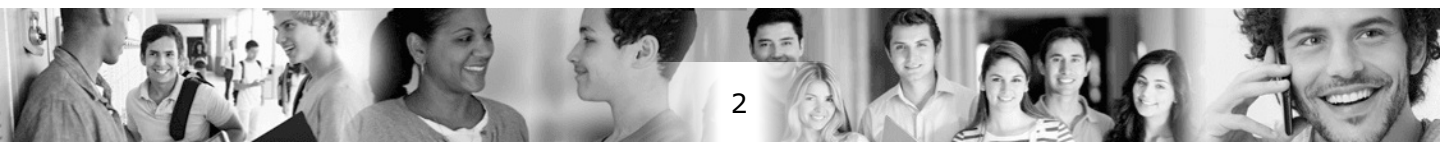

Do:

Readers prefer to read interesting and informative material. Write with flair!

Don't:

Write about anything you don't want people to know.

Use your blog to complain about things or people that bother you.

Let's practice!

What do you like to do in your spare time*?

*"Spare time": The time when you are not working.

Instructions: Use the words from the box to correctly complete the sentences. Then read the sentences aloud. Compare yourself to the audio.

Word bank

prefer	variety	pictures	countryside	write about
activities	trips	golf	weekend	restaurant

A lot of people _____ travel or sports. What do you _____ to do on the _____? Do you have a _____ of free-time _____ you enjoy? You can add _____ of your shopping trips, special _____ dinners, or movies you have watched. Maybe you like to play _____ or take day _____ to the _____.

Let's practice!

Would you rather be doing something else?

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Correct the mistakes.

Then read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. Readers prefer too read interesting and informative material. Write with flair!
2. Maybe you will rather document your visits to your favorite restaurants.
3. You may won't to begin with a welcome post.
4. Before you begin, you mind prefer to shop around rather than choose any service.
5. You should choose an interesting topic that you are familiar with, or maybe you would after about new ideas and events.

Extension Activity

Time for some online research.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Go online and research 3 different blog sites on free-time activities.
- Compare the sites. How are they similar? How are they different?
- Write 2 sentences. Start one sentence with, I would rather not follow this blogger because..... and the other sentence with I would rather follow this blogger than the other one because...
- Read your sentences with a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I go online and research blog sites.

☐ ☐

I compare different blog sites.

☐ ☐

I write sentences that say what I would rather do.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- to bother (verb): to cause someone to feel worried, or concerned
e.g. Don't use your blog to complain about things or people that bother you.
- observation (noun): verbal or written thought on something you have seen e.g. A blog is a "web log" that provides information or observations about a wide range of subjects.
- to fit your needs (expression): to be what someone is looking for in a product or service e.g. Choose a provider who fits your needs.
- to document (verb): to write down
e.g. Maybe you would rather document your visits to your favorite restaurants.
- service (noun): an organization, company, or system that provides something to the public e.g. You might prefer to shop around rather than choose any service.
- flair (noun): a personal sense of style
e.g. Write with flair!
- golf (noun): an outdoor game in which players try to hit a small ball with as few strokes as possible into a hole
e.g. Would you rather a game of golf or a run in the park?

Learning Points

Writing a Blog

If you decide to write a blog, there are steps you should follow.

1. Decide on a topic: What are you going to write about? Choose a topic that interests you.
2. Find a blog service and sign up. Select a service that meets your requirements.
3. Design your blog. What colors, photos and designs are you going to choose?
4. Write the first post: Be sure to proofread your work carefully.

Would rather for what is preferable

You use the expression would rather ... + verb to express a preference. You can also use the contraction 'd rather ...

You use Would you rather ... ? to ask about someone's preferences.

Would rather ... introduces a comparison between two options. You use this expression when the context clearly allows the subject to make a choice between one option or the other.

Example: Would you rather visit Spain or Antarctica?

You use would rather + than to express a comparison between two things.

Example: I would rather explore the world than work in an office.

When the subjects are different, you use would rather + Past Simple .

Example: I'd rather you didn't go out tonight.

Examples:

- Maybe you would rather document your visits to your favorite restaurants.
- Maybe you would rather write about new ideas and events.

